Rick Powell felt it was helpful to hear this information city by city to understand the depth of the activities. This was also the opportunity to share ideas. TAA currently depends on the listserv to market ideas. TAA cannot afford to send a mailing to everyone unless there is more funding to pay for it. The clubs would need to find sponsors, underwriters or continue utilizing the listservs.

Rick Powell has asked Burdette Huffman, Marketing Chair, to take on a new direct mail campaign. To find out what it will take and what the cost might be.

Rich Schmidt asked how many of the clubs are active – per Charlotte Travieso 40 of the 44 clubs that have budgets are active

Sallye Wolf also advised that outreach committee is planning a volunteer day for fall 2003, a mailing will go out to participating cities.

Bob Vorhoff said that Tulane basketball games are held in most of the TAA club cities. He suggested identifying dates now of when a game might be in a club city and send out an email on the listserv to get responses back in order to buy tickets.

Committee/Task Force Reports:

- Steve Slattery – Communications Chair
  - TAA Website is being redesigned for a cleaner more comprehensive look
  - Template from the university’s website has been used to make TAA’s site look the same

  - Description and criteria for various awards are available on the TAA website

- Burdette Huffman – Marketing Chair
  - Now have a full committee
  - Suggest having one committee member remain on the committee for the next year to offer consistency
  - Revenue enhancement programs:
    - Gift baskets for incoming students that parents can purchase for them
    - Encourage local Louisiana alumni to buy the Tulane/Louisiana license plates
  - Committee is working to extend current benefits to include the Tulane/Loyola Federal Credit Union and Cornell club
  - Committee working with communications committee to get message out regarding the benefits TAA offers
Committee members will develop a marketing packet, which will be an actual folder with a fact sheet about the alumni clubs and background on what the alumni association does.

A flag with the new Tulane logo will be made and hung outside the Cornell club which has been a great asset for TAA.
