10-unit major in English. One gateway course: ENLS 200. Two courses in literature before 1800 (British) or before 1820 (American). At least one course in American or Anglophone literature. At least one seminar. No more than three courses at or below the 300-level can be counted towards the major requirements—with the exception of writing courses at 200- and 300-levels. All other courses elective.

Gateway Course: ENLS 200

1. __________________

Literature before 1800/1820 (two units):

2. __________________
3. __________________

American or Anglophone literature (one unit):

4. __________________

Seminars (one unit):

5. __________________

Electives (five units):

6. __________________
7. __________________
8. __________________
9. __________________
10. __________________

Exceptions and Notes:

____________________________________________________________________________
____________________________________________________________________________