The Music Rising project is an ongoing project working to document the history of and current projects in music education in NOLA.

I am the project’s Digital Media intern. I oversee and execute the final stages of our visual documentations of important figures in the New Orleans music scene. This is important as it provides a permanent record of current music luminaries.

On Display: Nicholas Payton
- Jazz musician, Q&A with Jazz students
- Edited in Final Cut Pro X
- Cleaned up audio hum, added logos and titles