The African-American Women’s Society
The African-American Women’s Society (AAWS) is an organization that works to increase awareness of important issues that affect African American women on Tulane’s campus. The organization nurtures development and encourages involvement. The women of AAWS pride themselves on leadership, encourage initiative, promote sisterhood, and provide a home for women of color with similar interests.
Alpha Lambda Delta

Alpha Lambda Delta (ALD) is a national honor society that recognizes first-year students who attain a 3.5 GPA AND are in the top 20% of their class during their first semester of college. The Newcomb chapter is involved with several service projects on and around campus, plans fun events for members to network, such as the Registration Pizza Party, and organizes off-campus activities for ALD members, such as attending the New Orleans School of Cooking and Rock ’n Bowl.

Athletic Women’s Association

Athletic Women’s Association connects current women students who have an interest in athletics with the Newcomb College Institute and other resources available to them at Tulane. The group encourages all women interested in athletics in any way, shape, or form to participate in this organization since the group plans to focus on multi-faceted dimensions of women in athletics. On top of networking with Tulane alumnae, the group aims to discuss women athletes’ portrayal in the media, and expand upon skills developed in sport and relate those skills to careers.
Her Campus Tulane

Her Campus Tulane (http://www.hercampus.com/tulane) is an online magazine for college women that individualizes its content college-by-college by establishing My Campus branches at schools across the country. With content on Style, Health, Love, DormLife, Career, and World, supplemented by campus-specific content, Her Campus Tulane specializes in the Tulane experience and is written and managed entirely by Tulane students.

Hispanic Women’s Society

Hispanic Women’s Society provides support to Hispanic women at Tulane University through awareness, mentoring, and international and local outreach. The purpose of this is to be a source of motivation and a haven of comfort for Hispanic women at Tulane. HWS strives to unify Hispanic women and women interested in the Hispanic culture through local, international, and on-campus projects and activities.
Mortar Board

Mortar Board is a national honor society that recognizes college seniors for excellence in the areas of scholarship, leadership, and service. Mortar Board members represent the top scholars and leaders on their campuses. Since its establishment in 1918, nearly a quarter of a million members have been initiated at 226 chartered chapters across the nation. Male and female students apply as juniors and are selected by the current senior membership.

---

Newcomb Senate

Newcomb Senate is a student government group that works to support all women on campus and to illuminate issues that women face within University Student Government. In addition to preserving Newcomb College traditions, the organization supports the current vision of the Newcomb College Institute and incorporates new traditions that promote women’s leadership and growth. All undergraduate women are encouraged to participate in Newcomb Senate by attending monthly Town Hall meetings and joining committees. Elections for upperclass positions are held during the spring semester, and two first-year representatives are elected at the beginning of the fall semester.
Newcomb Sexuality and Gender Alliance

Newcomb Sexuality and Gender Alliance (NSAGA) explores feminist discourse, sexuality, and gender studies through an examination of gender in television, music, film and new media. Members also have the opportunity to meet with special guests and speakers hosted by the Newcomb College Institute, plan exciting programs, such as V-Day and Love Your Body Day, and develop their leadership skills through the NSAGA student organization.

The Tulane International Society

The Tulane International Society (TIS) focuses on bringing an awareness of global affairs to Tulane’s campus, especially relating to issues that affect women’s lives around the world. They organize discussions, speakers, and culture-sharing events that touch on a multitude of interests and majors, including Public Health, Latin American Studies, African and African Diaspora Studies and International Development. In doing so, they strive to create friendships and connections between international students and the greater Tulane community. TIS ultimately serves as a forum for the exchange of culturally and intellectually stimulating ideas, discussions, and projects.
VOX: Voices for Planned Parenthood

VOX was created to educate and mobilize students in support of reproductive health and rights. This group seeks to be a strong pro-choice organization on campus offering students an opportunity for feminist-driven political activism.

Women in Business

This is a student organization for women interested in pursuing careers in professional business fields, regardless of academic major. Their meetings and events strive to increase students’ interview and networking skills, while allowing them to develop relationships with distinguished professionals and faculty members.
Women in Politics

Women in Politics is a student organization geared towards women interested in politics, government, law, and public policy. Students are welcome from any and all political backgrounds and belief systems. Activities include practicing political leadership through action, lively discussions on the role of women in politics, co-sponsoring speakers and involvement with civic projects.

Women in Science

Women in Science is a nationally affiliated organization that works to connect women with faculty and peers interested in the sciences. Throughout the year, the group sponsors events, such as faculty speakers, panels, and volunteer activities including Upward Bound, Children’s Hospital, and Science Fairs at local schools.