"A vaccine aimed at Malaria elimination"

Dr. Kumar is professor in the department of Tropical Medicine and also director of Vector-Borne Infectious Disease Research Center. Research in the Kumar lab has focused on understanding the immunobiology of malaria parasite with a primary goal to develop a malaria transmission blocking vaccine.