Join us for conversation with…

Michael R. Bromwich

Director, U.S. Bureau of Ocean Energy
Management, Regulation and Enforcement

Date: Wednesday, April 13th, 2011
Time: 2:00-3:00pm
Location: Room 157
Tulane University Law School

Michael R. Bromwich, the Director of the Bureau of Ocean Energy Management, Regulation and Enforcement (BOEMRE) will speak to undergraduates, graduates and faculty about the critical challenge of ensuring the safe and responsible development of our oil and natural gas resources in the Outer Continental Shelf (OCS). BOEMRE, a bureau in the U.S. Department of the Interior, is the federal agency responsible for managing the nation's natural gas, oil and other mineral resources on the OCS. One of BOEMRE’s core principles is a renewed commitment to rely on thorough and credible science as the basis for sound decision-making. During this talk, students will learn of the reforms that BOEMRE is making to promote this decision-making process and of the exciting opportunities that a career in BOEMRE represent. For more information on opportunities at BOEMRE you may visit http://www.boemre.gov/jobs.