Tulane School of Science & Engineering Seminars
(Open to the Public)
Compiled by the Science and Engineering Honor Society (SEHS)

/Spring 2018 /

Week of January 22\textsuperscript{nd}

Tuesday, January 23\textsuperscript{rd}

“Height Distributions of Critical Points of Gaussian Random Fields and Their Applications in Statistics”
Dang Cheng—Texas Tech
3:30 PM, Gibson Hall 126
Mathematics

Wednesday, January 24\textsuperscript{th}

“Effects of Osmotic Stress on Oxytocinergic Signaling in the Rodent Hypothalamus”
Charles Frazier—University of Florida College of Pharmacy
4:00 PM, School of Medicine 5150 (Downtown Campus)
Neuroscience

Friday, January 26\textsuperscript{th}

“How and Why Individuals Vary”
Brook Moyers—Colorado State University
11:00 AM, LBC 203
Ecology and Evolutionary Biology

“From Earth to Mars: Predicting Aeolian Sand Transport on the Red Planet”
Christy Swan—Naval Research Lab
12:00 PM, Norman Mayer 200B
Earth and Environmental Sciences

TBA
Matt Rossano—Southeastern Louisiana University
3:30 PM, LBC 201
Psychology

TBD
Jonathan Sessler—University of Texas at Austin
4:00 PM, Jones 102
Chemistry