Tulane School of Science & Engineering Seminars
(Open to the Public)
Compiled by the Science and Engineering Honor Society (SEHS)

/ Spring 2019 /

Week of Jan 14

Monday

“Approximation Algorithms for Optimal Packing in Two and Three Dimensions”
Helmut Alt, PhD – Tulane University
4:00 PM, Stanley Thomas 302
Computer Science

Tuesday

“A moment-based approach to estimating molecular heterogeneity”
Timothy Daley, PhD – Stanford University
3:30 PM, Gibson (Room TBA)
Mathematics

Wednesday

“Real-time fMRI neurofeedback for treating and studying mental illness”
Michelle Hampson, PhD – Yale University
4:00 PM, School of Medicine 5150 (Downtown Campus)
Neuroscience

Friday

“Stratospheric Sulfur Geoengineering - Benefits & Risks”
Alan Robock, PhD – Rutgers University/Tulane University
12:00 PM, SELAB 206*
Earth and Environmental Science

“Language difference or learning disability? Culturally responsive assessment for English language learners”
Desiree Vega, PhD – University of Arizona
3:30 PM, Jones 204
Psychology
* Based on last year’s room assignment, may not be the actual room, which wasn’t listed on the EES web page.