Finding Fort San Juan in the Appalachians

Finding Fort San Juan in the Appalachians

Robin A. Beck, an archaeologist at the University of Michigan, is part of a research team that discovered Fort San Juan—originally established by the Spanish—in the Appalachians. It is now the oldest known European settlement, predating by almost 20 years the lost English colony of Roanoke.

Into the Intro: Life Beyond Earth

For thousands of years, human beings have wondered if we are alone in the universe. Only recently have we developed the technology to investigate by exploring the far reaches of space for signs of life. In an excerpt from this fall's Life Beyond Earth, join the search for what—or who—might be out there.
